

Allegro 2019

Allegro is a musical term referring to a cheerful, playful and lively tempo. We craft our signature dry and bright white blend with this definition in mind.

TASTING NOTES

Pronounced honey, apple, and ripe peach with animated citrus and pineapple. Nice balance, medium-body and a rich finish.

Regional Terroir:

Vancouver Island soils are a complex story of volcanic origin layered with marine sediments and gravel carved and deposited by glaciers. Today, clay-loam soils lay on top of this gravelly base.

Between the 48th and 50th parallel with strong oceanic influence, grape growing on the islands is marked by its long sunshine hours and cool-climate.

Despite notoriously wet winters, summers are dry and droughts are not infrequent but temperatures typically stay below 30 degrees Celsius.

All of the above combine to create one of Canada's most beautiful and unique wine regions.
