

Sara d'Amato

There is a certain earthy wildness on the nose of this expressive rosé that may not prove widely appealing. Dry on the palate with firm acidity. The flavours are quite stinky with a bit of damp cardboard that give way to strawberry fruit that lingers on the finish of good length. Tasted October 2020.

